DRAMATIC RACE FOR LIFE

Galloping Through a Tunnel in Front of a Fast Railway Train.

A very dramatic incident took place recently during a run of the Carmarthenshire hounds, when the master had a very narrow escape from death, says the London Tatler. The fox, hard pressed by the hounds, entered a railway tunnel, and before they could be stopped the whole pack dashed in after him. Mr. Harries, the master, realized their danger and without a moment's hesitation galloped into the tunnel to try and whip them off. He had got some little distance into the tunnel when suddenly he heard the dread roar of an approaching train, which was thundering along at terrific speed. The headlights of the engine glared at him.

It now became a veritable race for life. Mr. Harries clapped the spurs to his horse. On and on they rode at breakneck speed through the black tunnel, with the train thundering behind in the hot pursuit and gradually diminishing the distance between them. Luckily the engine driver caught a view of the flying horse and its rider against the sky line at the mouth of the tunnel and he slackened speed. Mr. Harries and his horse were saved. The fox and hounds also escaped unhurt.

NO MORE CROSS-EYED THAN HE.

Anecdote Shows How Hard It Is to See Our Own Defects.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, met in St. Petersburg, where she attended the recent International Red Cross convention, the painter, Prince Troubetsky.

Prince Troubetsky told her that in Paris he had once done a portrait of an American who was cross-eyed. The painter thought a great deal about the matter and finally made his picture cross-eyed, too, so that it should be a faithful likeness.

When it was done the original looked at it and said:

"It seems to me—it seems—why, hang it, this picture is cross-eyed, isn't it?"

"Why, no more than you are, sir," said Prince Troubetsky.

"Well, perhaps you're right," murmured the American. "It seems to have a queer look about the eyes, though."—Pittsburg Gazette.

OUTING SPOTS IN THE NORTHWEST

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Cour d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shrines.
